SAICA Enterprise Development celebrates another ED Flagship Graduation success

On 7 September, we celebrated the graduation ceremony of 27 passionate and driven Small and Medium Enterprises (SMEs) who successfully completed SAICA Enterprise Development's (SAICA ED) 6-months Flagship Enterprise Development programme.

This programme was made possible with the help of 20 financial coaches from various accounting firms who dedicated their time to mentoring and upskilling these entrepreneurs. Throughout the 6-months programme, 14 jobs were created through the SMEs. Furthermore, we saw an average of 70% revenue growth throughout the cohort.

Since the pivoting of the SAICA ED Flagship Programme to this hybrid format in October 2021, SAICA ED has successfully run 3 cohorts, supporting a total of 84 Small Businesses. Since inception, SAICA ED has worked with a total of 2274 SMEs through various Enterprise and Supplier Development programmes to date.

One of the volunteer coaches, Neo Mosholi from Thuto Lab, testified that having been an entrepreneur herself for over 15 years, she too, was on the receiving end of the mentorship and training from SAICA ED when the ED programmes still fell under The Hope Factory NPC. She is now paying it forward and is happy to 'give back' through the coaching.

"Thank you to SAICA ED for the initiatives you have for entrepreneurs and the support that you have always shown for small businesses, I am very glad that I can return the favour" says Neo.

The impact and testimonies of success from these flagship cohorts have highlighted to SAICA ED the need to continue supporting SMEs through this type of intervention. Cohort 4 has currently commenced and recruitment for cohort 5 will kick-off in November. We would like to express our deepest gratitude to all our volunteer coaches who have sacrificed their time and dedicated it towards our initiative to grow and support small businesses in our country.

SAICA Enterprise Development and Sage partner to champion small business success

South African Institute of Chartered Accountants Enterprise Development (SAICA ED) has partnered with Sage, the leader in accounting, financial, HR, and payroll technology for small and mid-sized businesses (SMBs), to champion the growth of local SMBs. The collaboration focuses on sharing the good news about SMBs participating in customised SAICA ED programmes.

SAICA ED is part of SAICA's Learning and Development division. It runs enterprise and supplier development (ESD) programmes, emphasising black-owned businesses and focusing on growing the SME entrepreneurial ecosystem for greater sustainability. Over the next year, Sage will tell the stories of some of these enterprises to inspire other entrepreneurs and help raise their profiles.

"A thriving SMB sector is the answer to creating jobs and prosperity in South Africa. To that end, Sage embraces its role in enhancing the competitiveness of SMBs so they can contribute to more inclusive growth. We are proud to partner with SAICA ED to champion some of the SMB heroes in its programme and provide them with tools and information that help break down barriers to their success," says Faith Ramusetheli, Transformation Director, Sage Africa and Middle East.

Enterprise Development programme graduate gears for growth in ICT sector

Meet Broman Nkosi owner of UPD 002 Security Solutions Systems, Special-award winner made his mark in the group as the SME that created the most jobs whilst on the programme.

During Broman's time on the programme he was also selected by My Dough (an online digital platform that offers SMME support), as one of the top performers on the platform. He was also able to register for a business opportunity with the Compensation for Occupational Injuries and Diseases (COIDA) organisation and landed an incredible contract to install fibre lines to 20 000 households in Tshepisoong, Johannesburg.

Being one of the special awards winners, Broman expressed his heartfelt gratitude to being selected to being part of the programme and to his finance coach. He further explained that he applied everything that his financial coach taught him. He also mentioned that attending financial workshops helped him move his company in the right direction, as most of the processes and back-end implementation tools he learnt on the programme were things that his business lacked.

The success of our participants is what keeps SAICA ED pushing to continue to equip and mentor Small Business owners to become more financially savvy. Broman Nkosi's journey is just one of many success stories about a passionate entrepreneur that is growing from strength to strength despite all the daily challenges that face entrepreneurs in South Africa. We wish UPD 002 Security Solutions Systems all the best with its future endeavors.
